Press Release

Jay Listens!!

Coffee and Pie chats kicked off to hear about priorities of Citizens!

Chelan, April 23, 2008: Jay Witherbee of Chelan has kicked off a series of community chats to hear from citizens about their concerns. As a candidate for County Commissioner, Jay knows he is representing his constituents. These chats are one of the ways he is making the effort to make sure he understands citizen's concerns.

Pictured is a chat held April 16 at Blueberry Hills. The informal environment of this chat really helped to encourage folks to speak their mind.

Jay is scheduling chats around the county. His next chat is April 26th in Chelan. People interested in attending or having Jay sit down for a chat with their group can contact him at www.Jay4ChelanCounty.com or by phone at 509-699-1696.

Topics brought up on April 16 included development and its impacts. Quality of life, traffic and taxes were also discussed. A casual atmosphere and great pie and coffee made for a lively discussion.

Chelan County Commission candidate Jay Witherbee wants to hear about concerns of citizens of Chelan County. Listening to all aspects of an issue is critical in being able to make the best decisions and represent the wishes of the citizens.
